Tasting notes

A gorgeous nose of poire William, orange blossoms and Mirabelle plums. The palate is surprisingly nervy and racy and shows considerable refinement. Minerality and truffle notes are detectable too and the wine becomes more and more impressive as you work it. This is fine example from a terrific terroir. Drink from 2009.

About the producer

Bernard Mollard always comes across as a remarkably relaxed man, which is not a common trait for a fruit farmer! His jovial demeanour and unpretentious manner always make for an enjoyable visit and his wines are similarly friendly and inviting. Bernard makes no apology for making wines to enjoy in their youth and his Chassagne's have been hugely popular with our customers for many years now.
