Tasting notes

The 2009 is a blend of 75% Merlot and 25% Cabernet Franc. The first Merlots were picked on 24th September and the last Cabernets on 13th October. On the nose, the wine is immediately bright and attractive showing both freshness and ripeness in equal measure. On the palate, the wine shows considerable depth and weight with rich red coulis fruit, a little black cherry and a subtle note of liquorice on the finish. There is a supple, easy flowing style, finely grained tannins and an excellent, poised finish. Drink 2014-2020

About the producer

Le Grand Village is the original Bordeaux home of the Guinaudeau family, better known as the producers of Château Lafleur in Pomerol. The same team and equal level of detailed attention are dedicated to winemaking in this château in Fronsac on the Right Bank. This results in a red (Merlot/Cabernet Franc) and a white (Sauvignon Blanc/Sémillon) wine which far outstrip their nominal Bordeaux Supérieur status, creating some of the most exciting releases in the appellation. If one wants to glimpse into the Guinaudeau's savoir-faire, then Grand Village is an unmissable addition to any cellar.
