Tasting notes

Overt notes of vine peaches on the nose, this is open for business with a sunny disposition and a little exotic touch of lychee. On the palate it tightens up a little, showing its more serious side. Unctuous textures from extra glycerol again belie the warmth of the site but there is plenty of freshness too on the finish. A prime candidate for an early drinking Grand Cru for those short on time!

About the producer

One producer who expresses more than others the spirit of Chassagne-Montrachet. With pure, elegant wines that are always approachable in youth but have an incredible capacity of ageing and developing in the cellar for decades. Jean-Marc and Claudine Blain consistently produce some exemplary wines at village level and release some of the most sought-after Grand Crus from their tiny holdings of Caillerets.
