Tasting notes

The story behind the single vineyard releases of Trapiche is incredibly uplifting and so are the wines themselves. This is one of the most important wineries in Argentina and it is heart-warming to see that they contribute significantly to their local viticultural heritage. Every year, the winery produces single vineyard Malbecs from the best local growers in the region. The wines are tasted blind in order to avoid any bias and the three best are given their own bottlings and bear the premium Trapiche name. They call this the 'terroir series' and it is a reflection of the potential these vast plots of vineyards have to transmit their own voice in Mendoza. These are among the finest Malbecs available.
