Tasting notes

A 100% Grolleau blend. The nose is nicely aromatic of cherry, blackberry, violets and a hint of heather. Medium bodied with intense flavours of crushed red cherries and blackberries coat the palate with a touch of smoke in the background. The finish is long with refreshing acidity and a currant leafy complexity.

About the producer

Clau de Nell is the late Anne Claude Leflaive's property in the Loire Valley. The Estate was named after its previous Burgundian owners, Claude and Nelly, who originally bought the property back in 2000 in order to follow their dreams of producing biodynamic wine which was then frowned upon in Burgundy. These strict biodynamic principles are still followed both in the vineyard and the cellar. Anne Claude bought the Estate in 2008 and no wines were bottled commercially for a few years whilst the property was given the full Domaine Leflaive treatment.
