Tasting notes

This distinctive terroir is located in the town of Bédarrides, and is characterised by large rolled quartz pebbles and a stone content of over 50%. The Croix de Bois terroir is quite distinct from Barbe Rac. About half the age of Barbe Rac vines, and a bit lower in elevation, its spicy nose and deep red-fruit flavours make a distinctive statement of dense Grenache intensity. The wines from this land have strong structure and colour. It offers multiple aromas: very ripe red fruit, plum, dried grasses and a few spicy scents with full flavoured warm tannins.
