

2011 'Vineyard 1955'

TintoNegro, Mendoza, Argentina

Product details

Vintage:	2011	Drinking:	Now 2020
Producer:	TintoNegro	Alcohol:
Region:	Mendoza	Variety:
Country:	Argentina

Tasting notes

An extremely elegant wine with an intense bouquet of dark cassis and plums with a rich, smooth palate of juicy, ripe blackberry and plum flavours balanced by velvety tannins and a refreshing finish. This wine is delicious now and will age well for a further decade. Drink 2015 ? 2024.

About the producer

A collaboration between two former Bodega Catena Zapata employees - American Jeff Mausbach and locally born viticultural expert Alejandro Sejanovich - TintoNegro is primarily a master of Malbec, grown in some of the best parcels of high-altitude vineyards in Mendoza, Argentina. Although the duo own two vineyards themselves, their handcrafted wines are produced at different wineries, chosen to suit the best expression of terroir and their hand-crafted approach to winemaking.

