About the producer

As with many producers in the area, the great wines from this small estate were once sold to local negociants but this all changed with the accession of the energetic Laurent Charvin to the estate. Laurent is passionate about his terroir and aims to express the purest fruit character in his wines. He uses traditional methods without destemming and the wines are fermented and aged in concreted vats to avoid wood flavours. The result is a very refined style with lovely ripe red fruits and great freshness, a style which is particularly marked in the very elegant 2011 wines. In addition to an excellent Châteauneuf du Pape, they produce a superb Côtes du Rhone which is always very good value.
