Tasting notes

A very structured wine. Intense red fruit aromas, strawberries and raspberries with hints of violets. On the palate this is fresh, mineral and very fruit forward. Combined with lively acidity, all elements come together to produce a wine of great elegance.

About the producer

Quinta da Falorca covers 23 hectares in the Silgueiros sub-region of Dão and was established by the Costa Barros de Figueiredo family over 5 generations ago.

Amongst the olive groves, hazelnut and pine trees are four vineyards - Vale das Escadinhas, Barreiro, Esmoitada and Falorca - which cover 13 hectares in total. The vineyards are situated on the steep banks of the Dão river facing south with full exposure to the sun and are planted predominantly with Touriga Nacional, a complex grape best known for Port that has a great potential for ageing. Also planted are Tinta Roriz, Alfrocheiro Preto, Tinta Pinheira and Jaen and the white varieties Encruzado and Malvasia. They have invested heavily over the past 30 years in the vineyards to ensure that they grow absolutely exceptional grapes and the fruits of their labour are evident by the fact they have made it into ViniPortugal's '50 Greatest Portuguese Wines' on several occasions.
