Tasting notes

Ripe and concentrated red and black fruit shows poise and restraint. The palate is open and perfumed with bright red fruit, roses and violets with savoury undercurrents of tea leaf and brown spices. The fruit is encased by velvety tannins and lifted by a lovely freshness and a long, concentrated finish. Drink from 2021.

Reviews

The 2016 Savigny-lès-Beaune 1er Cru Les Vergelesses has a well-defined bouquet with scents of blackberry, hints of blueberry and crushed rose petals, a distant scent of cold stone emerging with time. I would have just liked a little more precision perhaps, but the aromatics certainly have charm. The palate is medium-bodied with firm tannin, more structured and austere than the Fournaux with a strong, brine-tinged finish. This will require three or four years in barrel to smooth the edges, but again, this has good potential.

About the producer

Established in 1868, Domaine Simon Bize became a benchmark in Savigny-lès-Beaune under Patrick Bize. His meticulous approach produced crystalline wines of unmistakable elegance and poise. After his passing, his wife Chisa continues his legacy, offering Burgundy lovers wines that are charming in their youth yet possess remarkable ageing potential.
