

2021 Pinot Nero Alto Adige

Elena Walch, Trentino - Alto Adige, Italy

Product details

| | | | |
|------------------|-----------------------|------------------|--|
| Vintage: | 2021 | Drinking: | |
| Producer: | Elena Walch | Alcohol: | |
| Region: | Trentino - Alto Adige | Variety: | |
| Country: | Italy | | |

Tasting notes

Pinot Nero Elena Walch shines in clear, fresh ruby red. A fruity play of aromas of red berries, cherries and raspberries as well as spicy notes with some white pepper characterizes the bouquet. In the mouth, the wine convinces with juicy structure and inviting freshness, with soft, velvety tannins, discreet spices in the background and a youthful, elegant finish.

About the producer

A successful architect, Elena Walch married into one of the oldest winemaking families in the Alto Adige in the 1980s and her first vintage under her own name was in 1988, when she became the mountain region's first female winemaker. She went on to win acclaim around the world, with daughters Julia and Karoline now working alongside her. The pioneering winemaker owns some of the best vineyards in Italy, including two monopoles: Castel Ringberg in Caldaro and Kastelaz in Tramin, both at 300-400m altitude. These are officially recognised with the prestigious geographical domination 'Vigna'

