Tasting notes

---

The Riesling Vigna "Castel Ringberg" presents a brilliant straw yellow color alongside fruity aromas of peaches with subtle notes of white flowers, fresh spice with a hint of white pepper, and mineral typicality. On the palate unfolds a stimulating freshness and racy acidity combined with a mineral structure, filigree elegance and fresh finish.

About the producer

---

A successful architect, Elena Walch married into one of the oldest winemaking families in the Alto Adige in the 1980s and her first vintage under her own name was in 1988, when she became the mountain region's first female winemaker. She went on to win acclaim around the world, with daughters Julia and Karoline now working alongside her. The pioneering winemaker owns some of the best vineyards in Italy, including two monopoles: Castel Ringberg in Caldaro and Kastelaz in Tramin, both at 300-400m altitude. These are officially recognised with the prestigious geographical designation 'Vigna'
